

1. What type of document is the Thomas Jefferson piece?
 - a. It's the object of the mission of the Corps of Discovery. It's the Primary source. A historical document.
2. What type of document is the David Plotz Piece?
 - a. The document is a secondary source. A modern opinion piece.
3. What are the four main objectives that President Jefferson gave to Captain Lewis for the expedition?
 - a. He told Lewis to explore the Missouri river and find the northwest water route, or the Northwest Passage. He was also supposed to map the region. Conical the soil, and topography and animals and land.
4. Which is the objective that Mr. Plotz says was not met?
 - a. Lewis and Clark failed to write about their findings and to also find a water transport from coast to coast.
5. After reading the two pieces and the chapter, form your own opinion about Lewis and Clark and the Corps of Discovery. Did they matter or not? Support your answer with at least three points.
 - a. Lewis and Clark mapped and explored an important part of America. They were able to discover new animals and people. There were plants and furs that were found and used. Documentation of maps. Meetings with Native Americans. They didn't find the Northwest Passage. Lewis and Clark were not the first to traverse that area.